

SATURDAY MORNING

DREAMWEAVER

MEG GRACE

This class will use Dreamweaver to instruct students how to build a simple website using the supplied Dreamweaver templates and stylesheets. Students would need to install DRW 8 (or 9 if I have it by then) or already have it on their machines if they want to follow along during the class. We will build a 3-4 page site, and I will show the steps to using the integrated FTP tools of Dreamweaver, but obviously we will not upload the files.

SATURDAY MORNING

LEOPARD MAC OSX 10.5

STEVE RIGGINS, CHARLES DEVORE & OTHERS

This is the class we really wanted to teach in the spring but with Apple moving the release date to October we couldn't. Leopard: What's new in this version of the Macintosh Operating System and why you will be excited to run it. The class will explore the new features, discuss hardware requirements and possible problems with older programs.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON

GETTING THE MOST FROM DIGITAL IMAGES

JOHN LUTZ

This course will take you from your exposure to your final print using the adjustments in iPhoto and Photoshop Elements. You will learn to color correct, sharpen, straighten, crop, improve contrast and best of all, get rid of those pesky red eyes and other undesirables. There will even be a chance to print your work if time permits.

This class is geared towards the beginning digital photographer but we will be getting into more advanced editing at the end of the session for those so inclined.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON

INTRO TO iMOVIE '08

SANDY ROGERS

Get a look at the new, reworked iMovie. Learn how to use the special features that make this the easiest movie building application out there.

SUNDAY MORNING

NUMBERS '08

RORY BOWMAN

Finally Apple has updated the spreadsheet, and it is part of iWork. Come learn all about it.

SUNDAY MORNING

FILEMAKER PRO 9.0

GREG SMITH

FileMaker Pro is the great database application for Macintosh users. What are the new features and what are the problems converting existing database files? Greg can also answer FileMaker Pro questions about SQL conversions for all those ex-PC database users.
